
American taxpayer's investment in this $1 billion facility, the taxpayer would have been sued." About the author Most Popular After a year of uncertainty and unhappiness, the president is reportedly feeling more comfortable—but has he really mastered the job? And does he have what it takes to thrive in the job? We asked an expert to comment on that and more. If a bill passes the House and the Senate, then goes to the president's desk, it's his veto power or the vote of two-thirds of both the House and the Senate that would be needed to overturn it—not to mention what the public will think In the decades since the Vietnam War, Congress has voted to ban a few small weapons, like the AK-47 assault rifle and the DC sniper rifle. But that was it: Resolutions banning the sale of a few specific weapons, not the sale of all weapons.Q: Convert nlog.Targets.ElapsedEventArgs to event args I'm using the nlog logging library with ASP.NET and have run into the following problem. I want to log the elapsed time that a user is spending on a page, however the documentation isn't very clear on how to use this info in my code. The documentation says to do this: logger.WarnFormat("Logging elapsed time: {0} seconds", _targets.Elapsed); However, it's impossible to do this because _targets.ElapsedEvent 82157476af
